DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The cancellation of claim 14 has been noted. Currently, claims 1-13 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I in Paper No. 6 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by PCT Publication WO 00/54286 (the publication), for reasons of record.

The publication teaches in the abstract a coating composition of the type contemplated by applicants comprising 0 to 90 wt% binder, 1 to 60 wt% of one or more particles having an element bound network and 0 to 95 wt% of one or more conventional additives. See abstract. Accordingly, the teachings in the publication anticipate the invention as claimed in claims 1-13.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 21, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that they have further defined their invention by changing "comprising" to "consisting of" and by adding the clause to indicate that the coating composition is applied and cured, and can be removed by laser irradiation.

Agreeably changing "comprising" to "consisting of" can serve to further define that which one regards as their invention. However, in the present case, the invention disclosed by the publication in the abstract does not contain other components that would be excluded by this language. In fact, the composition in the abstract is the same as that contemplated by applicants. Regarding the language of "wherein said coating composition is applied to a substrate and cured and whereby laser irradiation is used to remove said coating composition from the substrate" these limitations are process limitations drawn to the future intended use of the coating composition. Accordingly, no patentable weight has been given to these limitations.

Therefore, the examiner's position remains that the teachings in the publication anticipate the invention as claimed in present claims 1-13.

No claims are allowed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
